Includes record $52 billion deficit

Ford budget presented

By R. GREGORY NOKES

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Painting his bleakest picture yet of the nation's economy, President Ford asked Congress today to approve a record peacetime budget deficit of $52 billion for 1976 to help end the worsening recession.

Ford noted his long-time opposition to deficit spending, but told Congress that "if the economic recovery does not begin soon, the Treasury will lose anticipated receipts and incur even larger deficits in the future."

His budget for fiscal 1976, which begins July 1, calls for federal expenditures totaling $349.4 billion—up from an estimated $313.4 billion in 1975—and receipts totaling $297.5 billion—up from $278.8 billion this year.

The back-to-back deficits for 1975 and 1976 would total $86.5 billion and raise the federal debt to $605.9 billion, equal to $2,840 for every American.

Ford's budget predicts a difficult time ahead for Americans, with a painfully slow recovery from the current recession. It forecasts an average unemployment rate of 8.1 per cent this year, 7.9 per cent next year and possibly 6.9 per cent in 1977.

The cost of living will increase an average 11.3 per cent this year, up from 1974, according to the budget, and the nation's Gross National Product will decline another 3.3 per cent this year, worse than the 2.2 per cent drop in 1974.

Ford told Congress his budget provides "decisive action to restore economic growth and energy self-reliance."

It includes $10 billion in tax cuts, which Ford had announced previously, on top of $6 billion for 1975—part of his package to stimulate the economy by giving people more money to spend.

It also incorporates his $30-billion energy-price-increase program—to be offset by an additional $30 billion in tax cuts—and provides $18.8 billion for jobless benefits and public service employment.

He also proposed a $9-billion increase in defense spending, to $94 billion, which he said is the minimum needed to maintain the nation's defense posture, including a "credible strategic deterrent."

But Ford urged Congress to act favorably on $17 billion in spending reductions he proposed previously, including his programs to limit Social Security increases to 5 per cent and to raise the cost of food stamps.

It is likely Congress will disapprove some of the cuts, especially the Social Security limit, meaning the 1976 deficit could be pushed above $52 billion and even past the nation's record deficit of $54.8 billion in 1943, a war year.

Ford said his short-term tax cuts—$12 billion for individuals and $4 billion for corporations—would "help reduce unemployment without rekindling inflation."

He said the budget deficit is due in large part to the tax reductions, a recession-induced slowdown in tax receipts and the increase in unemployment benefits, rather than new spending.

Ford's budget also includes separate outlays of $94.3 billion for the three-month period from July 1, 1976, to Sept. 30, following the end of the 1976 fiscal year.

The period will be the transition time between a shift in the government's fiscal year from July through June, to October through September, which Congress has directed beginning with the 1977 budget.

Ford's increase in defense spending would help equip three new Army combat divisions, raising the total from 13 to 16, and also would provide increased spending for tanks and warships. And he asked Congress to approve $975 million more for fiscal 1976.

Military aid to Israel would total $659 in 1976, down slightly from estimated current spending of $700 million. Overall military aid in Ford's budget is expected to total $2.8 billion, an increase of $700 million.

Ford spent a considerable portion of his written budget message defending the 5-percent ceiling on increases in Social Security and other federal income-distribution programs for 1976.

He said that even with the ceiling, outlays for Social Security would total $70.1 billion in 1976, up from $54.9 billion two years earlier.

But the ceiling would reduce total outlays by about $2.5 billion from what otherwise would be paid out under automatic cost-of-living increases and many members of Congress have said this would be unfair to low-income persons already suffering from the effects of recession and inflation.

But Ford said the nation cannot go on increasing benefits for income-

THE BUDGET DOLLAR

Fiscal Year 1976 Estimate

Big defense outlay faces trouble

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford today sent a record $94-billion defense budget to a heavily Democratic Congress which is likely to challenge military spending more severely than ever before.

Ford's first defense program calls for an $8.7-billion spending increase in fiscal 1976 starting July 1, which would break this year's record.

"This increase is necessary to cover pay and price increases and to maintain defense preparedness," Ford said, indicating that the administration intends to blame inflation for the rising cost of national security.

At the same time, Ford's budget message contained two signals that his defense spending proposals for the year after next, fiscal 1977, could break $100 billion for the first time.

One indicator was his request for $107.7 billion in total authority to obligate funds, much of which will be spent in future years.

The other sign was a forecast of $25.7 billion in spending for the July-through-September quarter next year when the federal budget shifts to a new schedule starting in October.

Ford's new budget for fiscal 1976 provides for no major new weapons programs and contains no surprises. The $94 billion in spending covers improvement and modernization of both the strategic missile and bomber forces and the conventional strength of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.

Also included is nearly $3 billion in military aid for South Vietnam, Israel, and other countries as well as $1.8 billion for atomic weapons development, including a step-up in underground testing before a treaty limitation takes effect in March 1976.

Ford contended that progress in nuclear arms limitation agreements with the Russians "has been possible only because we have remained strong."

Of the new defense budget, $7.7 billion is earmarked for the strategic nuclear forces, and a significant portion of the $9.4 billion in research and development involves work on advanced nuclear weapons.

The Trident missile-firing submarine project would get a total of $2.1 billion, up about $100 million from this year.

The proposed new B1 bomber is listed for $749.2 million, a boost of about $300 million.

The first of 10 giant Trident submarines, each carrying 24 ocean-spanning nuclear missiles, is to be deployed in 1979, according to Ford's budget message. This indicates a slippage of nearly a year and a half.

Groundhog fails to see shadow

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — Groundhog Punxsutawney Phil has failed to see his shadow for the first time in 15 years, and his devotees say that means spring is coming soon. "It's the only good news we've had in some time," said Elaine Light, whose husband Sam is president of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club.

The weather was clear and frosty atop Gobbler's Knob at 7:31 a.m. Sunday when several hundred onlookers watched Punxsutawney Phil interrupt his hibernation and squint from his treestump burrow.

BUDGET ANNOUNCED — President Ford, holding a copy of the 1976 fiscal budget, tells newsmen it is a $349 billion budget with a $52 billion deficit.

Jury being seated for burglary trial

The selection of jurors began Monday in Fayette County Common Pleas Court for the burglary trial of a Columbus man arrested here in September. An early attempt to try the case was thwarted by a mistrial.

Paul R. Spence, 36, Columbus, had been charged with two counts of burglary, possession of burglary tools, safecracking and grand theft. A jury was seated for trial in November, but the mistrial was declared during the testimony of the first witness for the prosecution.

Fayette County prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger said he expected to have a jury seated early in the day. Testimony for the state is scheduled to begin in the afternoon.

Spence and three other men were charged with theft-related offenses in connection with burglaries at the Association Plumbers, CCC Highway-W, and the Washington C.H. Elk's lodge last fall. Those arrested were James R. Forsythe, 33, of 703 E. Paint St., Stanley Bellar, Columbus, and Paul Hurler, 629 E. Paint St.

THE CHARGES against Hurler were later dropped and the defendant granted immunity from prosecution. He is expected to be the primary witness for the prosecution.

According to police officers, Hurler was working with the department throughout the course of the night on which the burglaries took place. Kiger and John H. Roszmann, assistant prosecutor, will call upon Hurler to testify as to the entire course of events that evening.

The state's case suffered a severe shock prior to the beginning of the previous trial when it was determined that search warrants used to examine the contents of the defendants' vehicles had not been properly executed. Items seized from the vehicles which had been slated as evidence could not, therefore, be introduced by the state.

Judge Rollo M. Marchant heard the testimony concerning the warrants and made the ruling suppressing evidence obtained as a result of the illegal searches. The Second District Court of Appeals later upheld the judge's ruling.

Defense attorney Daniel Conner is expected to argue that his client has already been tried before a jury and any retrial of the case constitutes double jeopardy. He feels that his client is in essence being tried for a second time on the same charge.

All defendants in the case were scheduled for trial together originally. After the declaration of mistrial, however, all were scheduled for separate hearings. Spence is the first to again appear on the charges.

Jobless pay big chunk of budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rising unemployment will swallow nearly $19 billion worth of the federal budget in 1976, or three times the amount of jobless benefits consumed before the recession began sapping the economy.

President Ford, in his budget sent to Congress today, allotted $17.5 billion to pay for unemployment-insurance benefits and another $1.3 billion for more public-service jobs.

The $18.8 billion compared with outlays of $15.3 billion in the current fiscal year and $6.1 billion in fiscal 1974.

The federal government, Ford said, "must act decisively to help restore economic health, and act compassionately to aid those most seriously affected by unemployment."

Unemployment rose from 5.8 per cent of the nation's labor force in September to 7.1 per cent in December, and the administration predicts the rate will average 8.1 per cent through 1975. At that level, nearly 7.5 million Americans will be out of work.

In addition to the new budget requests, Ford asked Congress for $5.1 billion in immediate aid to help the states pay for jobless benefits in both fiscal 1975 and 1976.

With unemployment rising, it has become clear in recent months that many states will exhaust their unemployment compensation funds and will have to borrow from the federal government.

Eventually the states will have to repay the federal government from the taxes paid by employers. Many states already are considering increases in their tax rates to do that.

distribution programs as it has in the past.

Other provisions of the Ford budget include:

—A $786-million increase in energy spending to a total $2.24 billion. The bulk of the increase, $526 million, would be earmarked for research.

—A supplemental appropriation of $1.7 billion to pay the federal share of rising welfare costs in the current fiscal year, and the same $7.4-billion federal spending for schools and colleges for 1976 as in 1975.

—A reduction in the Food for Peace program from $1.1 billion in 1975 to $1 billion in 1976.

—$1 billion for U.S. participation in a $25-billion special fund to help industrialized nations with their oil-payment problems.

—Postponement of plans for a national-health-insurance system until the economy has recovered sufficiently.

—An increase of about $1.5 billion in outlays for health programs to a total $28 billion.

Stock list turns mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — Digesting last week's strong advance, the stock market was mixed today in active trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 47 at 703.22, but advances led declines on the New York Stock Exchange by 776 to 426 among the 1,596 issues traded.

Last week the Dow index climbed 37.08 points in unprecedented activity, and brokers said profit-taking today was expected. Economically, they said worries about the depths of the recession were offsetting the continuing decline in short-term interest rates.

Several banks today lowered their prime lending rates, one to an industry low of 8 3/4 per cent.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was off .01 at 74.19.

The Big Board's broad-based index advanced .11 to 41.02.

Steels were higher, but autos fell. Gold stocks moved marginally higher.

Had it not been ex-dividends today, or the subtraction of dividend payments from the last market price of six issues in the Dow index the average actually would have been 2.11 points higher.

Emergency bill payment plan adopted

Washington C. H. (O.) Record-Herald - Page 3
Monday, February 3, 1975

The Dayton Power and Light Co. and the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio have jointly developed a four-point procedure to help consumers with apparent hardships manage higher utility bills.

DP&L President Robert E. Frazer met with the Public Utility commissioners, consumer groups and other utility officials to develop the plan.

The emergency billing-payment procedure provides:

1. That consumers threatened with disconnection of electricity and natural gas service be thoroughly informed of alternatives available through DP&L to avoid disconnection due to non-payment.

2. That DP&L work with local organizations to have them assist in relaying billing and payment information to consumers who may not be reached through other means.

3. That DP&L further promote the existing "level billing" plan, a billing procedure for all residential customers which allows the consumer to pay the same amount each month in order to budget more effectively. Also, the company by agreement may arrange that in certain circumstances customers who face an acute hardship in payment of their gas or electric bills be able to submit payments on an extended basis.

4. That any residential service location, which has reached the stage of disconnection due to non-payment, through the company's normal collection procedure, be visited by a field person prior to the actual disconnection. If no contact is made with an adult member of the household this field representative will leave an important notice on the premises which will specify the reasons for disconnection and alternatives which the customer may seek through the credit department of the company. This important notice will urge the customer to contact the company.

Frazer said, "Although DP&L has had a similar policy for years we will work even harder to carry out these procedures. These are very difficult economic times for the consumer, and DP&L must do its part not only to economize, but work with its customers who have legitimate acute hardships."

Cheap shots in high places

Some important Washington figures are making themselves tedious by indulging in the old game of calling opponents' motives, even their patriotism, into question. Notable recent participants in this discredited game are Rep. F. Edward Hebert of Louisiana and Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz.

When the first telling blow was struck in the drive to oust Hebert from the chairmanship of the House Armed Services Committee, he immediately impugned the honor of colleagues engaged in this effort. Those whose hands were raised against him, he declared, were bent on undermining the nation's security. This was, to put it temperately, a cheap shot. It is good to find that it didn't pay off.

Now we have Secretary Butz assailing certain new members of the House Agriculture Committee. His complaint is not that they are incompetent; his claim is that they sought these positions "to demagogue the food issue."

That derogatory phrase, coupled with other belittling remarks about the political ambitions of committee members he finds not to his taste, featured Butz's answer to his own rhetorical question: "Why did so many new congressmen from urban districts who don't have a farm seek membership on the agricultural committee?" The answer is evident to everyone except Butz - and perhaps to him as well, for all his show of puzzlement.

The answer to the secretary's question is that many urban residents rightly think the Agriculture Committee has paid far too little attention to consumer interests. The committee has long given overriding weight to the needs and concerns of the farmer. The farmer does need strong advocates in Congress; no one denies that. But farm policy must also serve the interests of those who buy what the nation's farm produce.

If Butz does not agree with that, he has the undoubted right to say so as insistently and eloquently and effectively as he can. But again, suggesting that congressmen who think otherwise are in it only for their own political benefit is a cheap shot. This demeans the high office Butz holds.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . By Marquis Childs

The CIA and the Pentagon

WASHINGTON — Those snickers coming from the Pentagon are in anticipation of the big flap over the Central Intelligence Agency. Nothing could please certain of the power barons in the Department of Defense more than to have the CIA clipped and its functions drastically curtailed.

This is far from being one of those bureaucratic struggles that perennially wrack the government. CIA estimates of the military threat posed by the Soviet Union have in conspicuous instances been lower than the estimates out of the Pentagon.

Major General Daniel O. Graham, director of the Defense Intelligence Agency, has in the recent past openly expressed the view that the military and the military alone should define the threat to America's security. This would mean, of course, far-out views to justify all the far-out weapons the three services want.

In an article Graham wrote for an army magazine in April, 1973, he said: "To sum up I think that the time is ripe for the military to reassert its traditional role in the function of describing military threats to national security."

In other words this is our bailiwick and CIA keep out: He warned in the same article of the "danger of the military profession as a whole losing its function of defining the military threat for the national leadership."

During the debate over the limitation on Anti-Ballistic Missiles in the SALT I agreement, CIA's estimate of the risk involved was far less than that of the Defense Department. The Pentagon power barons did not take kindly to CIA's estimate which finally prevailed.

Graham is in an ideal position as head of DIA to make the military case. He was deputy to the director of the CIA beginning in October, 1973. Prior to that he held an important position in the director's office. The director was then James R. Schlesinger, who held that post briefly before becoming Secretary of Defense.

The Secretary then moved Graham back to the Pentagon in September, 1974, to head up the Pentagon's own intelligence agency. The budget for DIA in the current fiscal year is $129.3 million. That will jump in the next fiscal year to $228.3 million, part of the jump attributed to a new DIA building. "But as Graham knows only too well out of his background, this is peanuts alongside the top-secret budget of the CIA. Here is the rub. The CIA gets an estimated 15 to 20 cents out of the intelligence dollar. If that could be scaled back, the Pentagon intelligence empire would be the happy beneficiary.

Just ahead is another sharp difference between the CIA and the military that promises to become a hotly debated issue in the Senate. Involved is Diego Garcia, the island in the Indian Ocean that the Navy wants to convert from a "facility" to a formal base at an estimated cost of $20 million.

Admiral Elmo Zumwalt, recently retired chief of naval operations, painted a dark picture of Soviet capabilities as justification for a base on Diego Garcia. The CIA appraisal was much more moderate.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D., Mo., wanted to know why, with the great arsenal of nuclear-powered submarines with multiple-targeted missiles free to roam the oceans, it was necessary to establish still another American base.

Diego Garcia is to come before the Congress again for approval dependent on the President's determining it is in the national interest. Symington intends to take this up in a floor debate promising fireworks over the competitive roles of the CIA and the Defense Department.

Senate Democrats by an overwhelming majority voted for a bipartisan committee to investigate the CIA and other intelligence agencies over a period of nine months. This grew out of charges of domestic spying in violation of the agency's charter.

If this is to be more than a television spectacular - a punitive expedition - there should be a serious examination of the role the CIA has played in foreign and military intelligence estimates.

While no one will say so out loud it is obvious that the Pentagon powers would like nothing better than to have complete sway to make scare headlines over the dangers ahead.

Corporal punishment policy under study

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Teachers and principals don't mind using the paddle, but they think local school boards ought to stand up and be counted on the controversial policy of corporal punishment.

That's the consensus of a Legislative Service Commission study, which said teachers and principals want the law on corporal punishment amended to require school boards to adopt a policy on it.

Ohio law currently gives teachers the right to whip or paddle an unruly student, but some teachers have gotten into court fights with parents as a result.

LSC, research arm of the General Assembly, said the courts have given four decisions on corporal punishment.

The latest decisions, it said, hold that corporal punishment is illegal if inflicted with malice "or in a manner that produces or threatens to produce permanent injury."

Earlier court decisions suggested that infliction of corporal punishment is unlawful only if done in excess.

"The Ohio Supreme Court," the study noted, "has yet to decide between the two theories."

Twenty-seven states have corporal punishment laws on the books. Two of them — New Jersey and Maryland — prohibit it. However, Maryland has since passed a law excluding 17 of its 24 school systems from the ban.

Seventy-four per cent of Ohio public school teachers involved in the LSC survey said they had used corporal punishment in their teaching careers. Eighty-six per cent said they would be against any law prohibiting it.

"Advocates of corporal punishment," said LSC, "claim one feature that makes it a particularly effective deterrent is that it can be administered immediately after the undesirable behavior takes place, so that the pupil can not fail to make a clear association between his behavior and his punishment."

Both teachers and principals who took part in the survey said they believed each school board should be forced to adopt a policy on how corporal punishment should be handled. Such a policy, the LSC said, would indicate to the teachers and principals they would be backed if they used it under board guidelines.

John Hall, chief lobbyist for the Ohio Education Association, said his organization took no stand on the issue.

"Our members don't want it forbidden, but I think the majority prefer alternatives," he said. "They would like to have some policy to go by from their employers."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Sees a conspiracy to silence her sex

DEAR ABBY: I have never been a women's libber, but I am now because I am now aware that there is a deplorable conspiracy being perpetrated against women by dentists in my city, and probably throughout the nation.

When a dentist makes dentures for a woman, he purposely makes them so that she can't talk properly! I have yet to see a man with dentures (and I have known several) whose dentures interfere with his speech. But all the women I know who wear dentures have trouble talking because the dentist intentionally made them that way so women will keep their mouths shut.

Don't you think it is time this inequality was brought to light? I certainly do.

I have been to three different dentists, and each one made me a set of dentures I couldn't talk with. They were all adjusted, and two dentists made me a second pair which were no better than the first.

Since I already have enough problems with dentists in this town, please don't use my name. Just sign this . . .

CAN'T TALK IN JACKSONVILLE, FLA.

DEAR CAN'T: It's highly unlikely that the dentists of Jacksonville (or any other city) are conspiring against women, but if you feel that you have been unfairly treated, take the matter up with the grievance committee of your county dental association.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a healthy young man, married one month, who says to his bride: "I won't bother you very often for sex. I want a pal, not a sweetheart?"

And he lived up to it, too.

DEAR NOT: He may be "healthy," but your marriage is sick. Tell him that you didn't get married to live with a "pal"—and unless he tries to fulfill his role as a husband, as far as you're concerned, the marriage won't work. If he wants to be husband, but can't, he should see a doctor. If he just plain doesn't want to, you should see a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to share a comforting thought with you and with anyone else it might help.

Recently, my aged mother died. Near the end, as I sat at her bedside, knowing there wasn't a thing I could do to help her, I thought of all the things I wished that I had done for her—but hadn't.

I wrote to a dear friend in a distant city expressing those feelings to her. That friend had recently lost her husband, who had been ill for a long time. She had held down a job (just as I had) and cared for her ailing husband, just as I had cared for my mother.

In answering my letter she wrote: "After John died, I blamed myself for not having been as patient and understanding with him as I could have been, and I found myself feeling terribly guilty. Then I suddenly realized how useless such thoughts were, and I said to myself: 'All my life I have forgiven others, and now it's my turn to forgive ME!'"

Abby, that jolted me. And now I'm going to do the same. I'll remember all the things I did for my mother (and there were many) and I shall not punish myself for the things I cannot change.

GRATEFUL TO FRANCES

DEAR GRATEFUL: Your friend Frances is a wise woman. And so are you, for recognizing the dimension of her wisdom. Thanks for sharing.

In 1913, the 16th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution was ratified, providing a federal income tax.

In 1924, former President Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington.

In 1945, in World War II, American forces recaptured Manila from the Japanese.

In 1962, President John Kennedy ordered an almost complete embargo on U.S. trade with Cuba.

Gas shortage envelops Ohioans with problems

By JUDITH ANN YABLONKY

Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio natural gas customers are enveloped in a cloud of problems caused by shortage. Statewide curtailments continue to affect industrial and commercial natural gas users.

Approximately 3,500 industrial and 16,000 commercial natural gas customers are operating with supplies ranging from 90 to 25 per cent of previous years' allocations.

About 50 per cent of Ohio's approximately 7,000 industrial and 10 per cent of the state's approximately 152,000 commercial natural gas customers are affected by the supply shortage.

This means that children are wearing extra sweaters in class, and shoppers are keeping coats on in stores.

Some major stores may have to close nights and Sundays to meet required cutbacks in gas usage.

Industry in Ohio has been hardest hit. The natural gas shortage has forced layoffs, closed factories, and severely cut production in industries heavily dependent upon natural gas.

Ohio is dependent upon pipelined interstate natural gas for more than 90 per cent less than what was available in the state a year ago, estimated John D. Borrows, director of utilities for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. Columbia Gas Transmission Corp., Ohio's largest interstate pipeline supplier, in January reduced allocations to its distributor utility companies across the board by 22 per cent.

Columbia Gas Transmission alone supplies about 70 per cent of the state's gas. Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. Dayton Power & Light Co., West Ohio Gas Co., as well as smaller companies all are supplied by the Columbia pipeline system.

In recent months, seven of the state's 26 natural gas distributing utility companies are operating under or have asked PUCO approval for curtailment plans.

The companies supplied by Columbia Gas Transmission have curtailed gas supplies to all their customers under specific classifications — such as large industrial and commercial users.

Two companies supplied by Consolidated Gas Supply Corp., East Ohio Gas Co., and River Gas Co. have asked the PUCO to approve similar curtailment plans.

Under whatever curtailment plan, residences receive top priority, and gas supplies to heat homes flow as before.

Ohioans in education, commerce, industry and politics are looking toward the horizon for a break in the cloud and answers to their questions about the natural gas shortage.

Meanwhile, PUCO and the gas companies are attempting to find temporary and longrange solutions to the problem.

The charred body of Michael Wayne Suttles, a Hamilton house painter, was found November in a ditch off a country road.

Three other members of the Iron Horsemen Motorcycle Club have been arrested in connection with the slaying.

Mrs. Deane Powell had on display 20 "Hummel" figurines for the Homemakers Club meeting held in the home of Mrs. Walter Parrett Thursday afternoon. A carry-in luncheon was enjoyed prior to the meeting, with Mrs. Heber Deer and Mrs. William Sheppard assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Powell, guest speaker for the afternoon, whose hobby is collecting Hummel figurines, gave the history of Bertha Hummel, the artist of the well-known Hummel figures, who was an artist as a child, and later studied in Munich, Germany. She later became a nun and died in 1946.

Mrs. Robert Case, club president, conducted the business and opened with the poem, "Just for a Day." She urged members to call on shut-ins during the month of February. She also CHICKEN SKILLET, flavored with dill pickles, is an economical top-of-the-range dish.

Dining on a budget

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

THERE IS no such thing as a truly economical dinner, but the main dishes suggested today are relatively inexpensive. They have other virtues, too. Easy to prepare, they feature foods that children enjoy.

Economical broiler-fryer chicken pieces are simmered in a tangy dill sauce sparked with the flavor of tomatoes for:

CHICKEN PICKLED SKILLET

3 pounds broiler-fryer chicken pieces
1/2 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons margarine
1 large onion, thinly sliced
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon thyme leaves, crushed
3/4 cup sliced dill pickles
1/4 cup dill pickle liquid
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
Chopped parsley (optional)

Place chicken and flour in large paper bag and shake until chicken is lightly coated.

Melt margarine in large skillet; add chicken and saute until browned on all sides.

Place all remaining ingredients in bowl and stir until combined; spoon over chicken in skillet. Cover and simmer chicken 30 to 40 minutes or until tender. Just before serving sprinkle with a border of parsley.

Serves 4.

Mashed yams are combined with sliced frankfurters for a food feast the younger set will like. It's flavorful, filling and nutritious.

LOUISIANA YAM

FRANKFURTER BAKE

6 frankfurters (about 1/2 pound)
2 tablespoons margarine
1 medium Louisiana yams, cooked and peeled, or 2 cans (16 ounces each) Louisiana yams, drained
2 eggs
1/4 cup prepared mustard
Cut frankfurters in half crosswise; reserve 7 halves. Slice remaining frankfurters.

Melt margarine in skillet over low heat; add onions and cook until tender. In large mixing bowl, mash yams.

With electric mixer at medium speed, mix yams, eggs and 2 tablespoons mustard until smooth. Stir in frankfurter slices.

Place yam mixture in greased 1 1/2 quart casserole; top with onions. Slice reserved frankfurter halves lengthwise; spread slightly and fill with remaining mustard. Arrange frankfurters atop casserole. Bake in 400 degree F. oven 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

Serves 4.

Bored with hamburgers and meat loaf? Combine chopped beef with grated cheddar cheese and use it to stuff savory Louisiana yams.

CHEESBURGER STUFFED

YAMS

6 medium Louisiana yams
2 tablespoons margarine
1 pound ground beef

1 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Bake yams in 375 degree F. oven one hour or until tender. Meanwhile, melt margarine in large skillet. Add beef and onion and cook over medium heat until meat is browned; drain off excess fat. Stir in cheese and heat until melted. Season with salt and pepper.

Cut yams in half lengthwise; carefully scoop out yams and reserve shells. Mash yams; add to meat mixture. Fill yam shells with yam mixture. If necessary, reheat in 375 degree oven.

Serves 6.
Pickle relish and cheese are the top-off for an easy-to-baked fish. Serve the fish on noodles with a tossed salad and call it dinner.

QUICK FISH DINNER

1 pound fillet of sole (or flounder, trout, haddock)
1 jar (5 ounces) sharp process American cheese spread.
1-3rd cup well-drained sweet pickle relish.

Arrange fish in greased shallow baking dish. Stir together cheese and pickle relish over low heat until cheese is melted; pour over fish and bake in 375 degree F. oven 25 minutes. Serve on toast points or noodles, as desired.

Serves 4.

Crusaders donate to various funds

The Christian Crusaders Class of South Side Church of Christ met in Fellowship Hall Saturday evening. The meeting was preceded by a covered dish dinner with the class teacher giving the invocation.

Due to the absence of the President and vice president who are vacationing in Florida, the class secretary, Mrs. J.G. Jordan, presided at the business meeting. The usual reports were read and approved. The class voted to give $10.00 to the Prayer breakfast, $20.00 to the building fund and Mrs. John Schiller was asked to purchase an item for the church kitchen. Guy Patton was appointed to supervise the renovating of the "Cry Room" furniture.

Mrs. Schiller brought devotions on "Hearts". Different members read scripture verses and well-known sayings entitled "Happiness Is" and closed the devotions with all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Mrs. John Sparks was in charge of entertainment.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Guy Patton and Mrs. Laura Huff. The next meeting will be March 1, and hostesses will be Mrs. John Schiller and Mrs. Stanley Baughn. Dr. Jordan will bring devotions and Mrs. John Coulter will provide entertainment.

Officers handle variety of reports over weekend

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported the larceny of a 23-channel citizens band radio today. Washington C.H. police reported a braking and entering, an incident of malicious destruction, an ill person, a larceny and a personal injury.

A 23-channel citizens radio was stolen from a vehicle owned by Randy L. Martindale, of 2403 Ohio 38-NE, while it was parked at Club 22 on the CCC-Highway-W, from 8 p.m. Saturday until 3 a.m. Sunday. Sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft.

The Coffman Stair Co., 306 Highland Ave., was broken into sometime between noon and 3 p.m. Saturday, city police reported.

Although there were no forced signs of entry, into the building, a factory tool was found nearby a soft drink vending machine. Police believed the tool was the instrument used. The machine was not open.

An auto owned by Dan Hines of 1106 Vine St., incurred malicious damage while parked at the Washington Square Plaza on Columbus Avenue, from 11 p.m. Sunday until 3:30 a.m. Monday.

City police said the hood, top and left front fender were dented and the windshield cracked. Damage was estimated at $250.

A drill valued at $76 owned by Don Duncan, was stolen from the rear of his 908 Washington Ave. residence, sometime between Sunday and Monday, police reported. Duncan had been hanging a screen door and mistakenly left the drill outside.

Larry D. Mossbarger, 26, of 103 Washington Manor Court, sustained a lacerated finger at 12:26 a.m. Sunday, when he dropped a knife at his residence and was cut while trying to catch it in mid-air. He was treated and released at Fayette Memorial Hospital.

Barth Elzey Jr., 17, of New Holland, sustained severe stomach pains while working at his fathers Sohio gas station at the corner of Court and North streets, Sunday afternoon.

He was found in the lavatory and taken to Fayette Memorial Hospital by ambulance. Elzey was admitted and presently listed in satisfactory condition.

Tax relief brings fight in Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Haggling between Democrats and Republicans over tax relief legislation was expected to continue this week in the Indiana General Assembly despite Gov. Otis R. Bowen's hints toward some compromise.

The House majority Democrats fattened their proposed tax relief program to $250 million Friday and opened the door for Senate Republican leaders to issue more threats of scrapping the package.

Senate leaders had already promised to kill the Housepassed sales tax holiday once it reached the upper chamber where Bowen's five-bill relief package was approved two weeks ago.

The governor, meanwhile, said his proposed 5 per cent income tax rebate — part of the Republican package — could possibly be revised to give more money to the poor and less or none to the wealthy.

That portion of the Republican inflation-easing package was opposed strongly by Democrats when it left the Senate providing for a maximum $25 refund and a minimum $5 to Hoosiers the next two years.

Bowen, in an interview with The Associated Press last week, indicated he might like to return to his original idea of making the refund apply only to persons earning less than $25,000 annually.

Bucks dropped 72-66

OSU falls to Indiana

By The Associated Press

Fred Taylor got a close look at the nation's top-ranked basketball team and didn't like what he saw.

"They get a piece of you or the basketball on almost every play," said the Ohio State coach after losing a 72-66 decision Saturday night. "It's difficult to concentrate on your offense like that."

The victory was the 23rd straight by the unflappable Hoosiers, the only undefeated major college team in the country.

The margin of victory was small, considering what Indiana has been doing to everyone else this season.

"Anytime you play a team that's ready to play and win by six, you can't be anything but pleased," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight, enjoying the finest season of his career. "That's a tougher ballgame than we've been in for some time. Ohio State was as difficult for us to score against as any team we've played so far."

"I was really pleased with our guards, Quinn Buckner and Bob Wilkerson ... especially with their defense."

While the nation's No. 1 team was winning, the No. 2 team was having problems. North Carolina State was beaten 98-97 by eighth-ranked Maryland.

Indiana scored seven straight points to take a 64-58 lead with about seven minutes left in Saturday night's game and later froze the ball to give Knight his first victory in four shots at his alma mater. The Hoosiers held the Big Ten's scoring leader, Bill Andreas, to seven points in the first half. Andreas wound up with 19 for the game.

The quick Hoosiers forced the Buckeyes into 22 turnovers, 15 of them in the first half when Indiana had a 35-34 lead. The Hoosiers broke open the game with an 11-3 spurt with less than five minutes to play to give them a 68-61 lead.

Scott May led Indiana with 25 points and Buckner and Steve Green each contributed 14 points to the Hoosier offense.

Brad Davis delivered a short jump shot with two seconds left to give Maryland a dramatic victory over North Carolina State at the Wolfpack's home court. It was the third loss this season for the defending national champions.

Church League

Gregg Street Church remained undefeated through five games and Good Hope Methodist captured sole possession of second place by winning their games last week.

Good Hope downed White Oak Methodist, 68-52, dropping White Oak to third place. Tied after three quarters, the winners exploded for 22 points in the final stanza while holding White Oak to only six.

Gregg Street took an early lead against Good Shepherd Lutheran and remained in control through the contest. The final score was 81-61.

Record-Herald Staff Writer

In a game packed with excitement down to the very last seconds, the Miami Trace Panthers fell by a one-point margin to Columbus Bishop Hartley Saturday night 73-72 at the MTHS gym.

Being down by as much as 12 points early in the contest, the Panthers battled with determination to overcome the Columbus team during the fourth quarter, only to lose by one point in the last seconds of the "Night marish" ending.

THE PANTHERS first pulled in front of Bishop Hartley with just two seconds remaining in the third quarter by a score of 57-56.

During the entire fourth quarter of action, both teams exchanged the lead with the Panthers taking their largest margin by three points 72-69 with only 22 seconds ticking on the clock.

One point ahead of Hartley with just seconds remaining, Trace miscalculated a full-court pass, which was quickly intercepted by Hartley for the winning field goal. A last-second effort for another full-court pass by the Panthers was also brought down by the bright blue jersey of the Columbus team to clinch the one-point victory.

"It was indicative of the type of year we've had all season," Panther head coach Dale Creamer said of the defeat. "We make mistakes, bury ourselves in a hole, we get even and get a couple good breaks but not the one break we really need," he added.

The "good breaks" Creamer was probably referring to during Saturday's clash were the eight personal fouls committed by Bishop Hartley in the last half of play while the Panthers were marred except for a technical foul call against Creamer for unsportsmanlike conduct with 6:15

Bishop Hartley wins 73-72 in final seconds

MT drops non-loop thriller

JUST ONE MORE — Miami Trace needed just one more free throw like this one Saturday to send the game with Bishop Hartley into overtime. However, it wasn't meant to be, and the Panthers lost 73-72. Dan Gifford, cracking the net with this shot, hit four charity shots in the second half and finished the game with 16 points.

remaining in the fourth quarter after Hartley gained a one-point lead 60-59. Miami Trace hit nine of 14 shots from the free throw line during the second half of play for 64 per cent and 18 of 26 overall for 69 per cent.

Bishop Hartley went to the bonus line only three times during the game, hitting all three shots for a perfect percentage.

"We had some key free throws and did some things tonight Saturday we haven't done in the past," Creamer said. "We played with determination, moved the ball well and worked together as a cohesive unit."

Trace had three players shooting in double figures while Hartley boasted four players in the bracket. Top scoring honors were won by Hartley's Kevin Williams with 22 points.

Other high scorers were Alan Conner with 18 points, Dan Gifford with 16 and Gregg Cobb with 14 points for Miami Trace and Mike Wile with 14, Mark McNelly shooting 11 points and Reggie Osborne hitting 12 points for the Columbus squad.

In statistics, Miami Trace outrebounded Hartley 30 to 24, but turned the ball over 24 times compared to Bishop Hartley's 21 turnovers.

Leading rebounders for the Panthers were Art Schlichter with nine and Gregg Cobb, pulling down eight. Schlichter also made four steals and four assists for the Panthers.

Miami Trace shot 27 of 51 basket attempts for 52 per cent while Bishop Hartley canned 35 of 70 for 50 per cent.

The loss dropped the Panthers record to 5-10 overall in the non-league battle. Trace presently holds a 3-6 record in the South Central Ohio League for fourth place.

IN COMPARING the powerful Columbus team to others played by the Panthers during the season, Creamer said Bishop-Hartley was "one of the strongest all the way around, offensively and defensively." They're 10-5 overall with losses to Eastmoor, Walnut Ridge and Central — three big powers in the Columbus city league.

The Bishop Hartley team went to the state finals in 1974 and have two returning starters with Mark McNelly and Mike Wiles, who combined for 25 points Saturday, Creamer commented.

"It would probably be a toss-up between London and Bishop Hartley as to the best ball club we've played this season," he said.

"We played well and moved the ball well against them but we just didn't get the break. In my mind, it was our ballgame," Creamer noted.

Winning way continued by MT reserves

The Miami Trace reserve squad combined in a team effort to easily dump the Bishop-Hartley crew from Columbus 44-31 Saturday.

The reserves boosted their record to 11-4 overall during the non-league contest while maintaining the lead in the South Central Ohio League with a 7-2 record.

According to reserve Coach Mike Henry, Saturday's game was "one of our better games defensively."

Miami Trace junior Terry Rodgers pulled down 13 rebounds while Sam Grooms grabbed off 11 for the Panthers.

"We just beat them on the boards," Henry said. "We brought down 43 rebounds compared to 25 for Bishop-Hartley." Trace committed seven turnovers during the contest to aid in the victory.

Fezler leads Hawaii tourney

HONOLULU (AP) — "Just one shot back," mused Arnold Palmer. "One shot. Well, that's not too bad. Not bad at all. I'm always pleased to go into the last round — any last round — just one shot behind."

And that's the position the 45-year-old Palmer found himself in today, one shot back of young Forrest Fezler going into the rain-delayed final round

Biddy scores

Even before Saturday's Biddy Basketball games got underway everyone knew that Jeffersonville would win — namely because Jeffersonville played Jeffersonville. The fifth and sixth grades at the school clashed, and as was to be expected the elder boys won. The score was 43-14.

Two other games were played Saturday. Madison Mills edged New Holland 28-22, and Wilson downed Wayne 28-19.

The cruising speed of a Rabbit.

The EPA's highway test average.

Happy days are here again.

93 miles per hour? We obviously don't recommend it, but it is reassuring to know that as you get onto a hectic expressway, a new Volkswagen Rabbit Hatchback has the power for incredible acceleration. From 0 to 50 in only 8.2 seconds. Quicker than a Monza 2+2. 38 miles per gallon? That's what the Rabbit averaged on the highway in the 1975 model Federal Environmental Protection Agency fuel economy tests. The Rabbit in the city averaged a nifty 24. Not bad for a sub-compact with all the interior room of some mid-size cars. $2,999? That's what you pay for the car backed by the most complete and advanced car coverage plan in the business: The Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket with Computer Analysis. Happy days are here again? We think you'll think so after you've driven a Rabbit.

By IRVING DESFOR AP Newsfeatures
Memos from a photo columnist's notebook to photo fans: Watch for another Life Special Report, "The Year in Pictures," published by Time Inc. (1.50), on the nation's newsstands around Feb. 1. It's a graphic pictorial review of 1974, a year of epic events that shook the globe and changed the lives of peoples and nations.

Put together by a nucleus of veteran Life magazine photographers and editors, it parades dramatic images that retell the stories that dominated America and the world. Among them is a day-by-day account of the crucial 17 days that inexorably led to the end of Nixon's presidency and Gerald Ford's elevation to the office on Aug. 9, 1974. But, in a maverick year, there were 27 new leaders who came to power throughout the world in the wake of scandals, military coups and ballots.

Pictures show the look of hard times in the U.S. with steadily advancing inflation and widely spreading recession, crippling blows that Americans had never suffered through simultaneously before. It's not a pleasant picture especially when contrasted with the transfer of wealth to oil-rich Arab potentates who had put the rest of the world over a barrel of oil.

There are grim pictures, too, of disaster and tragedies which tug at your heart and haunt your mind. Like the separate photos of two starving infants who symbolize the famine-wrecked areas of Africa and Asia where millions died. Or

Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Help for the Gifted Child

Our 8-year-old boy has been classified as a gifted child. He is in a special class and knows it. Already we detect supercilious behavior, at home and with the neighbors' children. We are concerned about this. Are there disadvantages in his progressing too rapidly?

Mr. and Mrs. P.C., Mich.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. C.:

I have special feelings about gifted children, in gifted classes, in gifted schools.

Social graces and happiness in peer play may be affected by the special distinction conferred on them. Certainly, gifted children should be given the advantage of more rapid progress, to conform to their own potential.

They should not, however, be given a special social status, nor a feeling that they are better than other children.

The gifted child who capitalizes on his special endowment can be isolated by his friends and deprived of the normal joys of daily activity. Direction and understanding in the home and in the classroom can encourage achievement without making the gifted child feel that he is a unique personality.

Educators are aware that special gifts require special handling. With their psychological insight, they aim to minimize to the child the importance of the giftedness, and stimulate values in good interpersonal relationships.

There is a saying among the top players that if a contract can be made it should be made. However, this is a difficult precept to live up to, and the sad truth is that even the best players don't always do so.

This deal was played in the 1968 world championship match between the United States and Holland. West led a diamond at both tables, against six notrump, and the play that followed was essentially the same. Declarer took the

Belgians enjoy U.S. horsemeat

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Americans would rather bet on a horse than eat one, but some of them are not averse to supplying horsemeat to Europeans with a taste for cheval entrecote or filet Americain.

Last year the United States became the major exporter of chilled and frozen horsemeat to Belgium and France, the biggest markets in Europe. Consumption is going up in Italy and Holland, and West Germany buys some, too.

Only a small quantity was shipped from the United States in 1971, but exports have risen rapidly since then. In the first nine months of 1974, France imported 28,070 tons, 10,250 from America. Belgium, with a fifth the population of France, took 27,770 tons in the first 10 months of the year, and 8,591 tons came from the United States.

Poland, Yugoslavia, Argentina and Ireland — the traditional suppliers — are all lagging behind the United States. Canadian shipments have also been increasing, and some traders think much of the meat the Canadians ship originates south of the border.

Belgian traders say there are slaughterhouses in Houston, Fort Worth, Seattle and some East Coast cities specializing in horses.

For some, poulain — colt — is a special delicacy. But Joseph Gulickx, a horse butcher in the Brussels suburb of Vilvoorde, is wary of it; the Americans do not export any, and there is not much local production.

"Don't trust a butcher who offers you poulain," he advised. "Most likely it's just veal. Ask to see the piece of meat. Anybody can tell a colt's long legs from a calf's."

Poulain is as expensive as veal in Brussels — up to $4 a pound or more. Horse steak, which used to be a poor man's dish, is now as much of a luxury as beef.

Gulickx charges $2.98 a pound for his best horse entrecote. Beef entrecote is selling around the corner at a few cents less. Wholesale beef prices are much higher than horse, but middlemen and retailers take up the difference.

Gulickx is enthusiastic about American horsemeat: it's grain-fed and has yellowish fat and a good fresh flavor.

"The Poles feed their horses on potatoes," he said. "It's not nearly so good."

6 highway deaths noted

By The Associated Press
Ohio enjoyed another relatively safe weekend on the highways, with just six traffic deaths reported. The toll was identical to the one the previous weekend.

The 54-hour weekend period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

All of the deaths occurred in separate accidents. One of the victims was a pedestrian.

The dead:

SUNDAY
EATON — Dallas Boggs, 23, of rural Somerville, when his car ran off Ohio 122 in Preble County.

DOVER — Nancy Murphy, 32, Dover, in a two-car collision at a Dover intersection.

SATURDAY
DAYTON — Mary E. Trent, 44, Franklin, in a two-car collision on Miamisburg-Springboro Road in Montgomery County.

KIRBY — Stenen Thiel, 21, Kirby, in accident on a Wyandunty road.

COLUMBUS — Gary Banks, 17, Columbus, when he struck a parked car near Kinney and Chambers roads.

HARPSTER — Arthur M. Mawer, 80, of rural Harpster, hit by a car on Ohio 294 in Wyandot County.

Private firms will run parks

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)— Natural Resources Director Robert Teater says the state is planning to turn operations of lodges at the Mohican, Hocking Hills and Shawnee state parks over to private enterprises.

He said it appears taxpayers money has been wasted with the state running the facilities.

Lodges at Salt Fork, Burr Oaks and Hueston Woods state parks and the Punderson Manor House currently are being operated under contract by a private organization, Ohio Inns Co. of Cincinnati.

discussing upcoming events.

Chairman Ray Warner reported he and commissioner J. Herbert Perrill had attended a public hearing of the Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging in Columbus Jan. 30.

Warner said the local representatives attended the hearing following a meeting with the Rev. Allen Puffenberger, chairman of the Fayette County agency on aging, in order to become more informed of the general operations of such services.

Rev. Puffenberger had reported to the commissioners last week a project was under study for implementing an information and referral service for the aged in Fayette County but no definite action has been taken.

The commissioners received engineering maps and profiles on the Compton Creek improvement project from Fayette County engineer Charles

Teachers turn down new pact

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The dispute between school teachers and the Columbus Board of Education was headed back for the bargaining table today after members of the Columbus Education Association rejected a contract offer but refused to strike.

Some 2,500 teachers attending a mass meeting Sunday overwhelmingly turned down an offer of a 6 per cent pay raise, but also voted against another strike and instructed negotiators to resume bargaining.

Spokesmen for the CEA said the teachers also insisted that any new agreement contain a clause guaranteeing no reprisals against members who participated in a one-week strike last month.

Voted down was a school board offer of a 6 per cent salary hike now and additional increases next September and January if additional state funds are available.

The CEA is asking an immediate 8 per cent increase and a 13.4 per cent raise next January, regardless of the level of state funding. Starting pay now is $8,070 annually.

Jack Burgess, CEA executive director, said he expected negotiations to resume "in a day or two." He acknowledged that the teachers' vote against a strike could "weaken our strength at the bargaining table."

P. Wagner and set the final hearing on the proposed ditch project for March 10 at 1:30 p.m. in the county commissioners' office.

The commissioners also heard 21 complaints reported by Fayette County dog warden reginald (Chink) Davis and were notified Monday by the Dayton Power and Light Co. that since Dec. 20, the county Courthouse has been limited to 71 per cent of the natural gas usage to the corresponding months of 1972.

On the commissioners' calendar, a meeting of the Fayette County Soil and Conservation District is to be held Wednesday in the Agriculture Stabilization Conservation Service building on Columbus Avenue and the commissioners are to hold their annual dinner meeting with all elected Fayette County officials and office heads at Anderson's Restaurant Feb. 10 to discuss any operating problems and exchange ideas in order to maintain "smooth-flowing" operations, Warner said.

A cold high pressure system held a firm grip over the Great Lakes this morning. Temperatures were in the 20s over most of the state in the pre-dawn hours. In the extreme south along the Ohio River the mercury hovered around the freezing point.

The most significant change in the weather picture over the last couple of days has been the gradual southward retreat of the front that lay across the southeastern states.
